

Sally Sudweeks

Consultant

Is an education based provider implementing innovative education programs within the Education Department (20 yrs) Always focussed on accessibility and equality of education. Experienced in country education, working in disability sector of education for 8 years.

Is a creative problem solver with a passion for those experiencing disadvantage, whether financial or social.

Worked in the Northern region of Geelong using the schools environment to embrace and partner local community organizations, maximising collaboration between business ,support agencies, volunteers, local identities and all levels of government. Coordinator of the Ardoch 'Linking schools in Communities'.

Advocate of joint responsibility for all support services, non-government and government organization, business and multi levels of education to provide the support and motivation for all.

Worked with many services delivering programs to schools and community group

Internationally trained, ("Beewise inc inspired by community") Sally works with all organisations and communities to understand the different mindsets within business, schools and across all socio economic groups.

Believes: collaborative action and partnership between all sectors building social capacity with and sustainable processes and communities